

Step 1: Prepare (10 minutes)

As a group:

1. Decide your 3 - 4 main arguments. Ground the arguments in specific examples and evidence (from the class, your knowledge, your research)
2. Anticipate what the other side will say and prepare possible responses
3. Agree on roles:
 - Opener speaker: presents main position
 - Rebuttal lead speaker: responds to opponent
 - Closer speaker: summarizes why your side wins
 - Debate strategy lead: synthesize the strategy in written notes, take notes of opponents arguments, advise teammates with strategy and arguments during the debate
 - Everyone should help prepare arguments!

Step 2: During the Debate

Opening (2 min)

- State your position clearly
- Present 3-4 key arguments. Each argument should be grounded in evidence, papers, news reports examples; avoid vague arguments / vibes!

Rebuttal (2 min)

- Directly respond to opponent; again, ideally with arguments that are specific and grounded.
- Point out weaknesses in their arguments

Closing (1 min)

- Summarize strongest points
- Explain why your side is more convincing

Afterwards, we will vote on persuasiveness

We'll have 3 rounds of debates.
